MONEY MONEY.

We have a word to say to our readers, not to that portion of them, that always punctually pay up; but to that class who take the paper year in, and year out, and never think of paying the printer. They act as if they never intended to pay, so long at least, as they can get the paper without paying. Now, with us this practice is "played out." We want our money and we intend to have it. Pay up gentleman or stop taking the REPUBLICAN. Pay up the old score, and we will again trust you. We have sent bills to nearly every patron in arrears, and yet you heed them not. This cannot go on forever.

We also, hereby notify all candidates who owe us for printing tickets during the last three years, to call and settle their accounts, between this and the April court, or we will immediately after the adjournment of the Court, place their accounts in the hands of a Justice of the Peace for collection. We want our money and we intend to have it. If there is no virtue in dues, we will have to try what there is in law. We think men who wish their fellow men to work for them and honor them, should be willing to pay their legitimate printers bills.

All persons indebted for Job work will please call—settle and pay up.

THE FLIRTATION OF THE LIBERAL REPUBLICANS WITH THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

Bolting Republicans coquet with Democracy and Democracy with bolting Republicans—this is the new scene presented to the people of the U. S., in the already worn out comedy, by the Democratic Republican Reform party.

Both love each other passionately, and say to each other all imaginable dear and pretty things, both have the full purpose of using and deceiving the other, and though each is convinced of the other's perfidy, yet in their desperate attachment they cannot let go from each other.

They know that separated they are powerless, and that a union of themselves will ruin one or the other. Thus they can be seen vibrating in their fruitless desires, between hate and love, fear and hope, repulsion and embrace, receiving at the same time terrific whacks from the Republican party from behind on both sides.

Love me, love me not—upon this seems to centre their happiness.

I the one party represents the lover, and the other the sweet-heart, he, by exciting strong hopes of a speedy marriage, is found exhausting the arts and wiles of a lover's argument in order to bring her over to his mode of thinking, but she, true to her first precepts, demands of him, previously, the ring of betrothal and also an assignment of his property. In this manner they have coquetted and capitulated for months without coming to terms, though they have paraded themselves in their best before the public in the vain attempt of proving what a splendid couple they would be.

THE Indianapolis Journal, in an article on Presidential aspirants, says: "Just now the small artillery of all this class is turned upon the President, he being regarded as the most prominent candidate before the party; but if he should die, or become incapacitated from holding the office another term, the next prominent man would receive the same fire—even if that man should be one of the artillerists. After the convention these men will become soured, politically, and will find sweetening only in the Democratic party, or some sham under which it is hidden. It is a waste of time to reason with them, and so long as the people continue to select the candidate they will do no harm. If the people are dissatisfied with Grant, they will make the dissatisfaction known by the nomination of some one else. If they are not, let the aspiring Presidential 'st cks' rant."

The Centre Hall Reporter—the Organ of the Pennsvalley Democracy—is after Meek with a sharp stick, and is punching him severely for his recent attempt to defeat the completion of the L. C. & S. C. R. R. You are righ Fred! hit him again.

LABOR AND ITS FRIENDS.

The nomination of Judge Davis by the Labor Reform Convention, is part of the general plan for the division of the Republican party. The Democratic party feels the necessity of additional strength. That strength must be drawn if possible, from the great party that has successfully opposed it for the past twelve years. Hence the necessity of creating new issues, and dividing the friends of old ones. For this purpose the "labor reform" and the so-called "liberal republican" movements have been started. If either of these organizations should become openly hostile to the Republican party, and show a determination to keep the field in spite of all opposition, the Democrats will, no doubt, run a straight ticket, and a quadrulateral fight will ensue. But if these movements on the part of the so-called "labor reformers" and "liberal republicans," are simply bids for the Democratic vote, and in the absence of that vote will cease to be formidable, then the Democrats will probably unite with one of these parties; for they are determined to beat the Republican party, if not by their own weapons, by any weapons they can wield. If the Republican party is defeated, the victory will be a Democratic one, and the people should have their eyes open to that fact. The leaders who are engineering these movements, hope by their sounding titles to command public support. "Labor reform," sounds well, so does "liberal republicans," but why create parties for either the one or the other, when the principles of both form the very ground work of the Republican party? Every true Republican is a labor reformer, every great measure of the party has the interest of labor in view. Why present argument when the fact is so plain? The proclamation of freedom by a Republican president, its endorsement and enforcement by a Republican Congress, should forever entitle the Republican party to the respect and attachment of every workingman in the land. The release of four millions of laborers from the chains of slavery was the grandest act for the reformation of labor that the world ever acknowledged. Every measure that has eminated from the party for the better protection of loyalty has been equally potent for the protection of labor. Freedom and labor are so closely allied in their interests that the growth of the one, is the advancement of the other. The party that affords the greatest protection for the enjoyment of freedom, affords the greatest security for the interests of the laboringman. The slave holders of the South, and their friends in the North, made up an aristocracy of capital, that was from its very nature, the sworn enemy of free labor. Yet the Democratic party protected this aristocracy, trampled under foot the sacred rights of labor, and divided the workingmen of the country into but two classes, the slaves of the South and the "mud sills" of the North.

The Republican party overthrew this aristocracy, gave to every workingman the right to own his own labor, and for the first time in the world's history, opened the doors of capital, to the humblest laborer in the land. Nor is this all. It has been the steadfast friend of labor from the first day of its power, to the present. Under its administration of affairs, wages have increased, new fields of industry have been opened, the hours of toil have been lessened, and the laborer everywhere, has been clothed with an independence, almost akin to nobility. What more can be done than has already been done by the great party of freedom, for the reformation of labor? What system of political liberality can be devised to do more for the best interests of the workingman? To overthrow this party, is to re enslave labor, to invite and encourage the growth of an aristocracy of capital, as dangerous as the slave oligarchy that was ground to dust under the heel of the Republican party.

Let the workingmen of the nation think for themselves. Let them ask their own hearts, if a party that has done so much for the ennoblement of labor, can in the future be an enemy to it. The grandest labor reforms have been brought about by the Republican party. Still grander reforms await its future. Its existence is the heart of industry, and its activity is the throbing pulse of healthy labor.

BAD SPELL.—Will the editor of the Boonville Eagle please inform us the correct way to spell Granite? Is it granate or granite? We notice in your paper of the 15th inst., you have it twice granate.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE.

We must base our judgment of the future, on our knowledge of the past. When we desire to form a just estimate of what will be, we first acquaint ourselves with what has been. Past experience governs us in the present, and guides us in the unknown future. A merchant who has lost money by a certain line of speculation is sure to avoid that line in subsequent transactions.—Others may refuse to profit by his experience, and the punishment which followed his folly is likely to follow theirs The wisest and most successful man is the one who profits by the aggregate experience of others, and who builds his fortune or his fame on a foundation that he knows to be secure and enduring.

The navigator who would put to sea without his familiar chart, and risk a voyage on his own judgment and skill as a sailor, would be laughed at for his folly, and be doomed to certain destruction. The individual experiences of other navigators are invaluable to the wise sailor, and they become to him an abiding law, which no argument or sophistry can change.

Just so it is in the political world. The experience of parties in the past, is the only guide we have for the future. Parties are but individuals in their collective capacity. The characteristics of the man finds reflection is the party which he assists to form. If the men who organize and maintain a party are ignorant, corrupt, or disloyal, the party will reflect like characteristics, if elevated to power. Individual rascality in its collective capacity, is rascality still, and no pretensions or promises can change its character.

The name of a party is nothing, its material is everything. We oppose the Democratic party, because every disloyal man in the nation belongs to it. We support the Republican party because it has no disloyal element in its ranks.—We believe many loyal men may be found in the Democratic party, but they are in such a helpless minority that no good can come from the party on account of their influence or presence.—They may tend to keep the aggregate of party rascality, which would naturally be intensified but for their presence, down to the level of the individual rascal, but more than this, they cannot do. The past experience of the Democratic party must condemn it for the present and future. Its record for the past twenty years, is dirty with its corrupt practices and its disloyal tendencies.—With an element to sustain it, even more vicious than ever before, the interests of the country demand its complete isolation from power. Any movement that would tend to restore it to authority, or add a shade of respectability to its pretensions, will be, not only unwise, but in the highest sense of the term, unpatriotic. The past history of the Republican party, commends it as a safe party to trust in the future. What it has done, and is now doing for the Republic and for humanity everywhere, it can do in the future. Its record as a political power has no equal. It saved the nation, preserved its credit, developed its resources, and out of the depths of disgrace, it lifted the country to the highest position of honor. A past so glorious, can breed no danger in the future. We present the record of the party to our citizens as the best argument for the continuation of its power. Deeds are better than words, and the realities of our party are in advance of the brightest promises which can come from our opponents.

A Missouri paper has got "passivism" badly, and it has broken out after this manner:

White Supremacy and Repudiation!
The Constitution of 1860 and the Rights of the States!
This is a White Man's Government, made by White Men, for White Men, and their Posterity Forever!
Down with the Fifteenth Amendment!
Total Repudiation of the Monstrous Yankee War Debt!—That Accursed, Unconstitutional Burden! accumulated by an Unconstitutional Mob, styling itself a Congress, in the Prosecution of an Unconstitutional Crusade for the Accomplishment of an Unconstitutional and Horrid Purpose!

These are the genuine symptoms of the normal condition of this loathsome disease. If a diagnosis were taken of papers in a more northern latitude, who advocate this doctrine, the disease would be found to be the same in kind, with its malignity and virulence only temporarily restrained or suppressed by the application of anodynes of prudence and policy poultices.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

A WORD OF ADVICE.

The attempt to create a third party, is nothing but a Democratic dodge to add a little additional strength to that old political fossil—the Democratic party. A few well meaning Republicans may feel inclined to bolt the ticket if President Grant should be re nominated.—They may be deceived into the belief that this is the best way to remedy the wrongs they complain of. If they will reflect a moment on the fatal consequences which must surely follow the defeat of the Republican party, they will abandon this fatal policy—and shun this third party movement, as they would a movement emenating from the Democratic party itself. Admitting, for the sake of argument, that enough Republicans could be found to so weaken the party by withdrawing from it, as to cause its defeat; who are the victors? Not the so-called "liberal republicans," for they form, at the largest estimate, but a small fraction of the two great parties. The conclusion is inevitable—the victory belongs to the Democrats, thrown into their hands by the disaffected Republicans. Are these gentlemen prepared to shoulder the disasterous effects which will follow such a victory? If they have been entertaining a belief that a ticket elected under the name of "liberal republican," will be, in fact, Republican, let them banish this delusion at once.

When Douglas and his school of Democrats left the Democratic party, the victory was won by the Republicans, and the leading members of the Douglas ring were soon found active workers in the Republican party. The larger body, naturally absorbed the smaller.—So it would be, if the disaffected Republicans were defeated, the administration of the government would be controlled by the majority of the opposition element. It has always been so in the past; it will be repeated in the future. It is as logical as cause and effect, as positive as the laws of attraction. It would be well for every member of the Republican party to think of this, and to frown down every attempt, come from what source it may, to alienate them from the great party that has done so much to preserve the liberties, and to build up the glory of our nation.—When the welfare of the Republic is at stake, every good citizen should bury personalities, and act only for the public good. There may be some faults in our party, but they would not be worth mentioning beside the faults of a Democratic administration. Four years of Democratic power would destroy our national credit, involve us in a hopeless debt, paralyze our national industries, and destroy forever the loyal element, which is to day working out the salvation of the South.

THE attempt to pass a series of resolutions instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to support a protective tariff policy, has been thus far impeded in the Legislature by the Democratic Representative from the iron and coal region of Centre county. Mr. Meek, is gravely of the opinion that American labor does not require protection.—State Journal April 1st.

Of course Meek will do everything he can to impede any legislation, which has for its object, the enriching of our country, or the sure and immediate independence and happiness of our workingmen. Has he not always, through his Watchman, proclaimed himself in favor of free trade? Did he not oppose every effort made by the Government to put down the slave-holders rebellion? Did he not, this winter, endeavor to obtain the passage of a Bill, which, if passed, would have killed the L. C. & S. C. R. R., forever? All these things are true and yet, the voters in the "iron and coal region of Centre County" have elected and sent him to the Legislature four times from this county. This proves one of two things, to wit: Either that the majority of the voters in this county are as much in favor of free trade, and as unpatriotic and disloyal as the said Representative "from the iron and coal region of Centre county," or that they are wilfully, hopelessly and incorrigably ignorant, persistently voting against their own, and the best interests of the country.

GOV. HAWLEY, of Connecticut, at a banquet in Philadelphia, the other evening, referred to the vulgar sneers of ignorrant would be aristocrats at politicians, and said: "They tell you that no true American gentleman dabbles in politics. I tell you that there is no true American gentleman who does not take an interest in politics."

SPEECH OF HON. HENRY WILSON, OF MASSACHUSETTS,

AT GREAT FALLS, NEW HAMPSHIRE, FEBRUARY 24, 1872.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

During the year on which we have entered the people of the United States will be summoned to elect a Chief Magistrate. There are seven million persons in the country entitled to the right of suffrage. They are now ranged into two great political parties. One calls itself the Democratic party; the other takes the name of the Republican party. Each of these political organizations has a history, a platform of principles, and a programme of policy. To one or the other of these parties the people of the United States will commit, for four years, the precious interests of the Republic. It devolves upon the citizens of New Hampshire to give the first vote of the campaign upon which we are entering. Whatever may be the result, it will be deemed and taken throughout the country as an indication of public sentiment, and the victory, to whichever party it may come, will give to that party in the nation more numbers than it has voters in the State of New Hampshire.

I come here to-night in behalf of the Republican party of the United States, three and a half million strong, to speak to the Republicans of New Hampshire; to ask them to call the battle roll anew, and to redeem their State, and place her where she has so long been, and where she ought to be again, at the head of the Republican column. I am not here to belittle the Democratic party. I know it has power, I know it has elements of strength, I know it will fight a great battle this year for the control of the Government. I pity the weakness or despise the folly that underrates the power of the Democratic party. It has vast elements of strength; it has wealth, prejudice, passion, and pride of race. I know it has able men in its ranks, and I have no sympathy with that disposition which prompts us always to belittle whatever we oppose.

I do not come here to apologize for the Republican party. I would as soon apologize for the spots on the sun that has bathed the world to-day in light and beauty. The Republican party needs no apology and no defense. There is no body of men in America to day who from their past history or present position have a right to arraign it before the nation, before the nations, or before God.

There was a struggle, beginning in 1832, and continuing until the spring of 1861—the period of one generation—between these antagonistic forces; out it was a struggle of thought, of voice, of the press, a struggle of votes. Liberty at last triumphed. Then the slave-masters raised the banners of rebellion, hurled their section into a wicked and brutal, barbarous and bloody civil war. These are historic facts. They will go into the history of our country; and when we who are here to night, when the men of this generation shall all have passed away, in other days, with clearer lights than these of the present, the human family will recognize these facts, and historians will record them for the study and admiration or condemnation of after generations

We have had a serious contest, a bloody struggle, in which some of the bravest and noblest have gone down and sleep in soldiers' graves. In this struggle, where stood these two great parties that divide the nation to day? Where stood the Democratic party? Where stood the Republican party? Here to-night I assert it, and there is not a man on God's earth can contradict it, for the record is against him, that from the year 1832, when Wm. Lloyd Garrison and eleven other faithful and fearless men signed their names to the declaration that black men had a right to liberty, and that they would do what they could, sanctioned by law, humanity, and religion, to emancipate the bondman, and to lift up the poor and lowly in the land, from that day to this hour, every moment of the time, and on every distinct issue, the Democratic party has been on the side of privilege, the side of caste, the side of a brutal, ignorant, degraded barbarism. Measured by the standards of the philosophers and statesmen of the ages, measured by the law of the living God, there has not been a moment when it was not clearly, plainly, distinctly, unqualifiedly wrong. It has been wrong, and it is wrong now, and I fear it will continue to be wrong.

The Republican party, made up as it has been of men who came out of other organizations because they were convinced that the party of freedom and humanity was the party of the country, has at all times, in every struggle, in peace and in war, been on the side of justice, the side of humanity, the side of a progressive Christian civilization. There has not been a moment during these forty years, whether Garrison Anti Slavery men, Liberty-Party men, Free Soilers, or Republicans, starting from only a dozen men and growing up to the three and a half millions who will vote in November next—I say that there has not been a moment in all those years when the champions of human rights have not occupied a position that the Christian men and women who belong to it or sympathize with it could not take it into their closets, and, on their bended knees, invoke the blessing of God upon it. I do not know that there are not some men so forgetful of the position of the Democratic party hat they might ask the blessing upon it of that Being who bids us remember those in bonds. But I cannot imagine how a man who has spoken for, apologized for, voted for, or fought for slavery, privilege, and caste, the side the Democratic party has taken—I do not see how such a man would dare ask the blessing of God upon the violation of the doctrines of the New Testament, that teach us to love our neighbor.

I have briefly referred to this history to show where the Democratic party has stood and now stands, and where the Republican party has stood and now stands. The Democratic party, unmindful of its record of forty years, is asking the toiling men of New Hamnshire to give it their confidence and their support. I should quite as soon think that the Democratic party would go to South Carolina, and ask the men whom we Republicans have made free—the men from whose limbs we have smitten the fetters, the men into whose souls we have breathed the spirit of manhood, the men whom we lifted up and put upon their feet, made them citizens of the United States, secured to them civil and political rights, and made them our equals and our peers I should quite as soon have supposed the Democratic party would go to South Carolina and ask the votes of those men, whom we converted from things into human beings, with human rights, as that it would ask the votes of the toiling men who stand on the hills of New Hampshire. They will tell us that these men were black men. I have only to say this, that the man who would make a black man a slave would make a white man a slave, if he had the power to do it.

I see before me men whom I recognize as toiling men; men who have to support the wives of their bosoms and the children of their love by manual labor. I call the earnest attention of these men to the terrible struggle through which we have passed, and to what has been achieved for the poor toiling men of this country during the last twelve years. I feel that I have the right to speak for toiling men and to toiling men. I was born here in your county of Strafford. I was born in poverty; want sat by my cradle. I know what it is to ask a mother for bread when she has none to give. I left my home at ten years of age and served an apprenticeship of eleven years, receiving a month's schooling each year, and at the end of eleven years of hard work, a yoke of oxen and six sheep, which brought me eighty-four dollars. Eighty-four dollars for eleven years of hard toil! I never spent the amount of one dollar in money, counting every penny from the time I was born until I was twenty-one years of age. I know what it is to travel weary miles and ask my fellow-men to give me leave to toil.

I remember that in October, 1833, I walked into your village from my native town, went through your mills, seeking employment. If anybody had offered me nine dollars a month I should have accepted it gladly. I went to Salmon Falls, I went to Dover, I went to New-market, and tried to get work, without success, and I returned home footsore and weary, but not discouraged. I put my pack on my back and walked to where I now live, in Massachusetts, and learned a mechanic's trade. I know the hard lot that toiling men have to endure in this world, and every pulsation of my heart, every conviction of my judgement, every aspiration of my soul, puts me on the side of the toiling men of my country—aye, of all countries. I became an anti-slavery man thirty-six years ago, because the poor bondman was the lowest, most degraded, and helpless type of manhood. An anti-slavery man from conviction is by logical necessity not only the inflexible foe of the doctrine that capital should own laborers, but the unyielding friend of the rights of the sons and daughters of toil.

Let us see what the Republican party

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

has done for the laboring men of this country during the last twelve years. It struck the fetters from four and a half million laboring men and women; converted them from things into men and women. In making them free, it struck down that proud, haughty, and domineering aristocracy of the South that held the doctrine—and proclaimed it, too—that "capital should own labor;" that the men who toiled for wages were "the mud sills of society;" that the slavery of workingmen produced "a class of gentlemen, who were the substitutes for an order of nobility." Those were the doctrines proclaimed in our ears for forty years by the Calhouns, the McDuffies, the Hammonds, the Rhetts, the Ruffins, the Fitzhughs, the Herschell V. Johnsons, and men of that class, who laid down the doctrine boldly everywhere that "slavery was the normal condition of laboring men, black and white." In emancipating these four and a half million black men and women we struck down the power of the owners of workingmen and working-women in this country forever. They made labor dishonorable in eight hundred thousand square miles of the United States, in the sunny South, as they were wont to call it. Laboring men from abroad would not go there to toil; northern laboring men would not go there to live; they would not stand by the side of the fettered bondmen where labor was dishonored. But by the steady, persistent adherence to principle of the men trained in the faith of opposition to slavery, who now stand in the ranks of the Republican party, all this has been changed, so that to day the laboring men of New England can stand up in South Carolina by the graves of Calhoun, of McDuffie, of Pickens, of the leaders of the slave power, who proclaimed free society a failure—that free men and women when they emerged from bondage into freedom were classed in four subdivisions, "the hireling, the beggar, the thief and the prostitute"—and "look up and be proud in the midst of their toil." We have made labor honorable, even in the rice swamps of the Carolinas and Georgia; we have taken the brand of dishonor from the brow of labor throughout the country; and in doing that grand work we have done more for labor, for the honor and dignity of laboringmen, than was ever achieved by all the parties that arose in this country from the time the Pilgrims put their feet upon Plymouth Rock up to the year 1860. [Applause.]

And that grand and immortal achievement is not all. We have opened that eight hundred thousand square miles to free laboring men; they can go there now they are going there now. The German, the Englishman, the Irishman, the New England Yankee, the man of the middle States, of the Northwest, can go there now, engage in the mechanic arts, cultivate the soil, and, in all the pursuits of life, no longer feel the degradation that rested upon workingmen when labor was extorted only by the lash. Let the man who toils for wages, whether in the mill, on the farm, or in the mechanic shop, realize what has been done during these last dozen years to lift from toil the badge of dishonor, and to open the great South to the free laboring men of the world. Let him remember with grateful heart that he owes it all, under Providence, to the Republican party.

The Republican party was brought especially into being, and won the victory, when it elected Abraham Lincoln to save the magnificent territories of the United States to the free laboring men of the country, their children, and their children's children, "while grass shall grow and water run." It saved that magnificent territory to freedom. Auction-blocks, bloodhounds, the lash, chains, manacles, cannot go there now. They have sunk down to the place from whence they came—to the bottomless pit, and the lower deep of the bottomless pit.

The Republican party maintains the policy of the small farms against the great plantations. The Democratic party joined with the South on that issue, as it did in everything and on every issue. We passed the homestead bill, and James Buchanan vetoed it, and the Democratic party supported him in that veto. The object of that bill was to save the vast public domain to landless men, that they might have small farms, rather than that a few men might have great plantations. We were defeated; but the first year the Republican party came into power, in the midst of the struggle for national existence, it passed the homestead bill, and saved the public lands to the free laboring men of this country forever and forever.

Here to-night I point you to these magnificent achievements; I point you to what has been accomplished in these twelve years for the workingmen, the mechanics, the free laborers, the men who toil for wages; and I say again to you that those achievements surpass all that had been achieved in our country from the earliest settlement of the colonies up to the year 1861, when Abraham Lincoln was inaugurated President of the United States. What claim, then has the Democratic party to the vote of a workingman in America? None, none whatever. The workingman who supports the Democratic party, with its history of forty years' hostility to the equal rights of millions of toiling men, is not only illogical and inconsistent, but indifferent and careless. I can see how the lawyer, the manufacturer, the banker, even the farmer, who stands on his fee-simple acres, may vote the Democratic ticket, but I cannot see how the emancipated black man of the South can do it, or how the laboring white man who works for wages can do it.

Persistent efforts are making to convince the laboring men of New Hampshire and to make them believe they have a very hard time of it; that they have to pay taxes; are, indeed, almost taxed out of existence. A document is circulated to prejudice the laboring men against the Administration, on account of the high rates of duties. In my judgment, the wise and sound policy is to tax luxuries highly; to put the burden of taxation upon articles that comes in competition with our own, and to make a free list as large as possible. We have a great debt to pay. We shall have taxation enough for many years. That burden, the legacy of the slave Democracy, will rest upon the labor of the nation for years to come.

It was my privilege last summer to spend a few weeks in England. I hardly heard anything else there but complaints of our tariff. If I went to a dinner-party, or met Englishmen on ship-board or anywhere, they had much to say about our exorbitant rates of duties. English importers, German importers, French importers, all berate our rates of duties. These identical documents that the Democrats are circulating in New Hampshire are not paid for by the Democratic party, but by men who want to take care of foreigh interests rather than our own. [Applause.]

I asked these men abroad what they wanted. "Why," they said, "we want to sell more goods in your country." I had no doubt of that. They said, "You are a great agricultural country; you ought to raise agricultural products, and we ought to make the manufactured articles." "Well," I said, "I find that you bought thirty two million dollars' worth of wheat last year, and only eight millions of it in the United States. I find that you bought millions of dollars of corn, and only a few thousand dollars of it in the United States." I asked them if they would give up their agriculture if we would give up our manufactures, and they said their agriculture was worth a great deal more than their manufactures. They came right to the point, for they could tell the truth on the subject in England; their friends do not like to tell it here They said, "The price of labor is too high in the United States. You pay too much for labor. It has a bad effect. It causes a great many of our laboring people to go to the United States to seek better wages; it makes those discontented who remain at home; they demand higher wages; and we have had to pay higher wages in this country this year than ever before." Well," I said, "that does not hurt my feelings a great deal. I am very glad they get good wages in the United States; I rejoice that the toiling men and women over here are getting better wages."

I saw everywhere I went, especially on the continent, women engaged in the roughest and hardest work. Women have to bear heavy burdens there. I saw women doing all kinds of hard work. You have heard a great deal said by our women's rights people—of whom I count myself one—about the right of women to work. They have that right in the Old World to their hearts' content. [Laughter and applause.]

I am glad that workingmen are complaining. I am glad the workingmen of Europe are getting discontented and want better wages and are getting higher wages and fewer hours. I thank my God that a man in the United States today can earn from threre to four dollars in ten hours' work, easier than he could forty years ago earn one dollar, toiling from twelve to fifteen hours. The first month I worked after I was twenty-one years of age I went into the woods, drove team, cut mill-logs, wood, rose in the morning before daylight and worked hard until after dark at night, and I received for it the magnificent sum of six dollars. Each of those dollars looked as large to me as the moon looked to-night. [Laughter.]

On the farm on which I served an apprenticeship I have seen the best men who ever put scythe in grass working for from fifty cents to four shillings a day in the longest days of summer. Yesterday I visited that farm. I asked the men who were there what they paid men in haying-time last summer, and they said from two dollars to two and a half a day. This was paid on the same ground where men worked forty years ago for from fifty cents to four shillings, and took their pay in farm products, not money. I have seen some of the brightest women go into the farm-houses and work for from fifty cents to four shillings a week, milking the cows, making butter and cheese, washing, spinning, and weaving—doing all kinds of hard work. I was told yesterday that many young women were earning in the shops a dollar a day, and that those who worked in houses were getting from two dollars and a half a week to three dollars and a half.

In 1832, in the great debate in the Senate on the tariff, it was said by those who advocated protective duties that they had raised the price of labor in the United States so that it averaged fifty cents a day. How is it now? This winter is the most prosperous winter the United States has seen in its history. Everybody is at work. There is very little suffering anywhere. Why this change? Why this improvement? It is because we have smitten down the slave system, broken down the slave power, lifted up, dignified, and honored labor, and tried to protect and diversify our own industries. To-day the laboring men and women of our country are earning from three to four times as much in a day as they could earn forty years ago, and a days' work is shorter now than it was then. After I had learned a mechanical trade in the place where I now live I worked fourteen and fifteen hours a day, month after month, to earn forty dollars a month. There are hundreds of men there now who in ten hours can earn a hundred dollars more easily than I could earn forty in fifteen hours. I am greatful to God that this is so I do not care anything about a few men or corporations piling up a great amount of money. The wealth of the Astors, the Stewarts, and the Vanderbilts has no allurements for me. I believe God made this world to grow good men and women, and not to pile up money. That is my belief, and I want to see the men and women who bear the burdens and do the work have a full share of all they earn, and that an honest days' work shall always have a fair days' pay. [Loud applause.]

Why is it that the Democrats of New Hampshire are circulating free-trade documents, pictorials and cartoons over this State? Why should they strive to deceive poor laboring men, when they were never so prosperous as now under the system that tends to diversify our industries, increase our production, add to our own wealth, and take care of our own country? My heart goes out to the workingmen of England and Ireland, of Germany and France, aye and of Asia and Africa, too. A man is a man, no matter where he was born or what blood courses in his vains. I believe that God made him and Christ died for him, and that he is destined to an immortal inheritance. I believe, too, in that comprehensive policy that watches over the poor and lowly and takes care of the interests of all the world; but, after all, I am for the Republic of the United States, before any other country or any other people. [Applause.]

I am for taking care of our own interests, and not allowing the importing houses of Englishmen or Frenchmen or Germans to control the financial or business affairs of the people of the United States, nor to direct the policy of the United States. I think we are old enough and large enough to take care of ourselves. [Applause.]

One would suppose, to hear our Democratic friends talk, that we never had any corruption before; that they had always been pure, because they never punished a thief. [Applause and laughter.] I propose right here to lay down this proposition; that the reason why this Administration is so assailed is not that it has been more corrupt, or as corrupt as its modern predecessors, but that it is doing much to expose thieving and to punish men who steal. The Democratic party—I mean the modern Democratic party—came into power in 1829, under General Jackson.

One man, Samuel Swartwout, in General Jackson's day, when the Government raised only about thirty million dollars a year, stole a million dollars in the New York custom-house—nearly as much money as has been stolen under this Administration in three years, in collecting and paying out nearly twenty-one hundred million dollars. The percentage of loss under the Administration has been less than under any Administration since General Jackson was inaugurated President of the United States. There is not a shadow of doubt of it. I assert here and now, that there has been a less percentage of loss under General Grant's administration than under that of any other Administration since the days of John Quincy Adams. John Tyler, a son of President Tyler, in a letter recently published, states that there were, in Van Buren's administration, ninety eight receivers of the public money, ninety-six of whom became defaulters. Ninety-six out of ninety-eight! [Laughter.] Is there any man here to-night who knows that any one of those men was ever sent to the penitentiary?

I believe a Republican thief is a worse man than a Democratic thief. [Laughter.] He has not had so many bad examples. [Laughter and applause.] A Republican thief is the wickedest and meanest thief in all the land. He joins a great party that was brought into being to give freedom to the slave, maintain the unity of the country, and preserve the life of the nation. In the ranks of that party is a large mass of the intelligence of the country, of the praying men and women of the country. A man who joins that political organization, betrays his trust, and steals the money of the Government, is a base creature, and the penitentiary is the only place where he should dwell.

The difference between Republicans and Democrats on this question is this; the Republicans try to discover and punish their thieves; the Democrats never punish theirs. You cannot tell me to-night of a man who stole from the national Government under a Democratic administration who was sent to the penitentiary. Under this Administration several thieves have been sent there. Most of their stealing was under the late administration, for there has been little stealing under this. Under Andrew Johnson's administration mean men got office. He went back on his party, on his record, upright Democrats paid little attention to him, honest Republicans kept away from the White House, and mean men of both parties sought the benefits of his patronage. About forty collectors of internal revenue under his administration became defaulters for about a million and three quarters. Under the three years of General Grant's administration four collectors became defaulters, and for amounts less than two hundred thousand dollars.

During the war we paid through the paymaster's department of the Army more than a thousand million dollars. That money was paid sometimes when troops were on the march, sometimes when they were under fire, and we lost less than a quarter of a million dollars. Never in the history of the human family was there any higher evidence of integrity. In the war of 1812, in paying out the little money we paid during that war we lost about two million dollars. Since General Spinner entered upon his office as Treasurer of the United States, $55,000,000,000 have passed through his office counted by from three to four hundred men and women. We have lost between fifty and sixty thousand dollars in these eleven years, while $55,000,000,000 have gone through the office. We punished one man, fined him, and he is now trying to get back $5,000, for he says we made him pay $5,000 more than he stole.—[Laughter.] We have sent to prison three trusted clerks, men of capacity and ability, whom everybody trusted and respected. That is the way we have served our thieves. We have sent two men who stole under Andrew Johnson's Administration, and were prosecuted under this Administration in Baltimore, to the penitentiary.

We had a paymaster in the Army; he was not a Republican; his father was not a Republican but an old Whig, and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under Thomas Corwin. This young man was a college graduate, inherited $100,000, was a member of a Christian church, had a noble wife and three beautiful children, lived within his income, got a passion for stock gambling, lost his $160,000, and then took $400,000 of the money of the Government. He was arrested when he might have run away. He was sent to the penitentiary at Albany for ten years About the same time the discovery was made of the boldest and most gigantic robbery of the people ever perpetrated in ancient or modern times. Bill Tweed—"Boss Tweed"—a man who a few years ago, went through bankruptcy, and who is said to have boasted, within a year, that he had $18,000,000, and, with him, the tribe of Tammany Hall, have been discovered and exposed. Some of these thieves have gone to Europe, some of them are enjoying the pleasures of the healthful breezes and snow-drifts of Canada, some of them are in one part of the country and some in another. While we were trying Major Hodge, and sending him to the penitentiary at Albany for ten years, with the approval of the entire Republican party of the country, Bill Tweed, the greatest thief in all the history of the human family, the boss thief of the world, [loud laughter and applause," was sent to Albany, not to the penitentiary, but the State-House as a State senator, by twelve thousand Democratic majority. [Applause.]

These two cases illustrate exactly the difference between the two parties: the one denouncing thieves and arresting and punishing them when it can, the other never punishing them. I am told by leading Democrats, some of them members of the committee of seventy, men who have done all they could to expose and break these Tammany thieves down, that they do not believe one of these thieves will ever go to the penitentiary. They stole the Erie railroad; they stole the State of New York from General Grant in 1868; they have stolen their millions from the city; they have stolen judges and stolen juries, and they get elected to the Legislature; they do not get sent to the State prison. And the men who denied this stealing, who denied that they stole the State of New York when they knew that they did it, who denied the stealing of these Tammany Hall men, until it was finally brought out and established so clearly that nobody could longer deny it, these very men are accusing the Administration of stealing. I have heard before of Satan's rebuking sin, but I never saw anything so brazen as this. [Loud applause.]

There has been collected, under Gen. Grant's Administration, in three years, nearly $1,200,000,000—nearly $400,000,000 a year; there has been paid out nearly one thousand millions dollars; making about twenty-one hundred million dollars. We have lost, out of this immense sum, in all the departments of the Government, a million and a quarter—less than a fifteenth part of one per cent! We have paid out during these three years, $90,000,000 in pensions, and we have had five defalcations, all of them soldiers, and four of them shed their blood for the country. But the Government has not lost a dollar, for the agents made good their accounts, or their bondsmen did it for them.

Everybody knows that the Indians have been cheated and wronged for years, and that many of our Indian wars have grown out of our violations of treaty obligations, our bad conduct, and the stealing from the appropriations for the Indians and their wrongs, two years before he came into the Presidency tried to devise a plan by which the Indians should receive what the Government appropriated for them. When he came into power he invited the Christian denominations of the country to select some good men whom he could send out to see that the Indians were not cheated, and they selected men like George H. Stuart; like Friend Lang, in Maine; like Friend Hoag, of Iowa; like William E. Dodge, of New York; and like Edward S. Tobey, of Massachusetts, some of the noblest, best, and purest men who tread the earth. These noble men have worked these three years to save these poor Indians from being wronged. The Indian policy of General Grant, were there nothing else, is enough to immortalize any Administration that ever existed in the country, from the foundation of the country. [Applause.] It has more of justice in it, more of humanity, more of the spirit of the divine Master, than can be found in any other deed of the Government, except the emancipation of the slaves. It stands by the side of that grand act among the great achievements of the nation. It will be acknowledged hereafter, it will go into history, and men will applaud it, when many of the men who are assailing the present Administration sleep in forgotten graves.

This Administration came into power with the pledge to maintain the faith and honor of the country then wickedly assailed. During these last thirty-five months there has been paid $287,000,000, nearly saving $18,000,000 a year in interest. This money has been mostly saved on one hand by an honest collection of the revenues—for we collected the first fifteen months of Grant's administration, $67,000,000 more than was collected under the last fifteen months of Johnson's administration—and on the other hand, by a reduction of the expenses of the Government. From these two sources we have paid this $287,000,000. Throughout the financial world it is a matter of wonder and amazement that the financial policy of the United States should be so successful. We elected General Grant, pledged to maintain the faith of the nation, to make our debt sacred, and what is the result? Why, the seven hundred millions of currency is worth to-day a hundred and forty millions of dollars, twenty per cent. more than it was three years ago. The laboring man who has earned two dollars to-day has received forty cents in real gold value more than he would have received three years ago this day. There has been added twenty per cent. to every dollar the laboring men of this country has earned, and it has been added because of the signal fidelity and ability with which that pledge has been kept, to maintain the faith of the nation, honestly collect the revenues, reduce expenses and extinguish the national debt as fast as he could.

We have a class of men who are always looking behind them. They have never been satisfied. They have taken their position on the great issues of the last forty years and been wrong every time. They linger behind their age. All their predictions have failed. They are the instruments of defeats and failures. Still these men continue to believe that all the statesmanship of the country is gone. They once looked up at the slave-masters of the South, who were their masters, too, when they stood on the heads of their negroes. They looked pretty tall then. A great convulsion came, and it shook them from their high position, and they look quite as small now as other people. But our Democratic friends do not see it; the old illusion still haunts them.

To hear these men talk you would suppose Gen. Grant was vastly inferior to such great magnificent statesmen as Polk, Pierce and Buchanan. What is General Grant—this man so denounced? When the war opened he was earning a few hundred dollars a year tanning leather in Galena. He offered his services to the nation, and they were not accepted. He went down to Springfield, and served there for some weeks, helping to enroll and organize the regiments they were raising in Illinois. Finally they gave him a regiment. He had not money enough to buy a sword with which to fight the battles of his country, nor a horse to ride. You did not hear anything about him; the nation knew nothing about him; few had heard of him. He had served in the Mexican war when a young man, fresh from West Point, and won two brevets for gallant conduct, but nobody knew anything of this humble man. He took his regiment and marched away. He never asked anything of the Government; he never disobeyed an order he never made any complaint. He went straight forward and did his duty, a quiet, silent, modest, man. About the first thing we heard of him was that he took about twenty-five thousand men up the Tennessee river, moved on the enemy's work, attacked an army of twenty thousand rebels, and captured fifteen thousand of them. You next heard of him coming on the field of Shiloh, when it was nearly lost, and when they asked him if he had prepared for a retreat he said that one boat would take all that retreated. He defeated the rebel army that had been nearly victorious. Then he went down the Mississippi river, passed Vicksburg, made a movement into the country, attacked the rebel armies, captured Vicksburg, and then you find him at Chattanooga, to save a lost battle, and you have heard of the magnificent victory he won at Mission Ridge and Lookout Mountain. He was then brought to Washington, and took command of the armies of the country, led the army of the Potomac through the Wilderness, fighting every day In the month of May, 1864, put his army before Richmond, and when the hour came, moved upon the doomed city and received the surrender of the rebel army at Appomattox. Nineteen battles behind him, and all victories! He did not march his army to make a parade through the rebel capital, but started off alone with his carpet-bag in hand for Washington, to stop the raising of troops and the manufacture of amunitions, to make preparations to disband the army and save expense, and to save, what he regarded, and what we all regarded as a very important thing, a general bankruptcy in the country.

We turned to this man when Andrew Johnson failed us, and asked him to be President. He didn't seek the Presidency; he felt and said that his place at the head of the army was the post for him. We made him President, and it was his strength and commanding influence that carried the Fourteenth Amendment. That same influence carried the Fifteenth Amendment, and gave the black man the right to vote in all the States.

When a wail of distress came up from the South, when poor black men prayed for protection from the murderous blows of the midnight assassins of the Ku Klux dens, Congress hesitated, faltered, divided. Then it was that he came forth with the brief message that rallied our scattered ranks like a battle order. Clothed with authority he has striven to protect the weak against the cruelties of the strong. Many hundred members of the Ku-Klux Klan have been arrested, several hundred have been convicted, or have confessed their guilt, and thirty of those chivalric assassins are in the penitentiaries. The men who stood by the cause of anti-slavery and the protection of the black man have found in General Grant a man who has stood bravely, steadily and consistently on the side of freedom and the equal rights of all men.

General Grant has now been President three years. He has committed some errors, made some mistakes in his appointments, but his foreign and domestic policy, the leading measures of his administration have been and are in the interest of the country. The masses of the people who have no personal grievances, who only want good government, see it, feel it, realize it. With all its faults, they believe we have the most reformatory, progressive and best administration the country has seen for forty years; and they are right in their convictions. But he is followed by obloquy and reproach. Again he is passing through the "wilderness;" it is darkened, not with the smoke of battle, but the storms of insinuation and accusation, detraction and denunciation. But he will not call retreat. The spirit that uttered, when the flame of battle opposed his march to the rebel capital, the inspiring words, "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer," is yet unbroken, and exultant foes may yet find that another Appomattox lies before him. [Applause.]

In all the struggle of the last sixteen years New Hampshire has been on the side of the country and of liberty. Forgetting that "victory clings to unity," you Republicans of New Hampshire allowed your banners last year to trail in the dust. You have tasted the wholesome discipline of defeat. Now you have the power to rise again. Forgetting personal interests and petty differences, and standing shoulder to shoulder, you can redeem your State, and thrill the hearts of your friends throughout the land. To you, Republicans of my native State, I appeal, for unity and victory. I ask you, who maintained the right of petition when it was cloven down under the lead of Charles G. Atherton; you who stood by John P. Hale when smitten by Democracy for fidelity to liberty; you who sternly opposed the wicked compromises of 1850; you who resisted the repeal of the Missouri compromise when sustained by Franklin Pierce; you who were true to Kansas when its skies were illumined by the midnight fires of burning cabins, and its virgin soil reddened with blood; you who helped make Abraham Lincoln President; you who followed the old flag of the Republic over many battle-fields; you who sustained by voice and vote that grand series of measures by which slavery was annihilated and the slave power broken forever; you who helped extirpate caste, enfranchise the black man, and give equality to all conditions of men; I implore you, one and all, to sustain now that sacred cause for which you have toiled and prayed, voted

THE AMERICAN WASHER?

PRICE $5.50

THE AMERICAN WASHER SAVES MONEY, TIME, AND DRUDGERY.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no Longer Dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing, Sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours' practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting! It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one-half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a Quilt to a Lace Curtain or Cambric Handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the LITTLE GEM! It can be fastened to any tub and taken of at will.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once becomes the fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud-sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

All that is asked for this GREAT LABOR SAVER, is a fair trial. We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

R. B. BARGER.....PROPRIETOR

W. W. BROWN,.....EDITOR

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

Wednesday Morning, April 3rd, 1872.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

FOR GOVERNOR,

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention.

☞ A complete file of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN may always be found at the offices of GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., Advertising Agents, 40 and 41 Park Row, New York, who are authorized to represent us in that city.

☞ HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF PENNSYLVANIA.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb, 5, 1872

In pursuance of the resolution of the REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE adopted at Harrisburg Jan. 18 1872, a REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION, composed of Delegates from each Senatorial and Representative District, in the number to which such District is entitled in the Legislature, will meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, at 12 o'clock, noon, on Wednesday, the 10th day of April, A. D. 1872 to nominate candidates for Governor, Judge of the Supreme Court, Auditor General (should the Legislature provide for the choice of one by the people), and an Electoral Ticket; and also to elect Senatorial and Representative Delegates to represent this State in the REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION, to be held at Philadelphia June 5, 1872.

RUSSELL ERRETT,
Chairman.

WM. ELLIOTT,
D. F. HOUSTON,
IZRA LUKENS,
P. M. LYTLE.
} Secretaries,

THE LABOR CONVENTION.—The poor workingmen who met at Columbus the other day, seem to have been very inconsistent in their selection of candidates for the Presidency. With all the professions of contempt for the moneyed aristocracy of our country, and in face of all their agony about the rich becoming richer, and the poor, poorer, these poor workingmen representing nine States, have chosen two of the wealthiest men in their respective States. Joel Parker of New Jersey is one of the few very large land-holders in that State, while Judge Davis is one of the richest men in Illinois. Of course, their wealth in itself is no objection, but why not carry out the principles of the new party, when it seeks to array itself in opposition to the Republican party in a great National contest. Be consistent, gentlemen.

THE Corinne (Utah) Reporter, finds time in the midst of its plucky fight against Mormonism to speak as follows concerning Mr. Schurz and the Senatorial cabal: "The time has come for us to deal very plainly with this section of malcontent adventurers who propose to serve the Democracy in the guise of Republicanism. The desperation of the cause represented by Mr. Schurz is seen in his attitude. The issue he has made is neither for Grant nor against him; it is an issue against the party. A man who announces that he has made up his mind to betray a party cannot be permitted to speak for it or lead it. If Gen. Washington had taken Benedict Arnold he would have hanged him. According to the Tribune, he should have given him an important command in the revolutionary army, and retired himself to "produce harmony." We do not believe in such discipline, nor have we any patience with the cowards and time-servers who would counsel further alliance with men like Senator Schurz. That gentleman has gone over to the enemy, and as an enemy we must treat him. If the Republican party is not strong enough to shoot deserters, or at least drive them out of their lines, the sooner it dissolves into a mob the better, for it is no longer a party, but a mob, without a purpose or mission as an organization.

THE SOLDIERS' HOMESTEAD LAW

The provisions of the soldiers' homestead bill which has just passed Congress, and received the signature of the President, are as follows: Every officer, soldier, sailor or marine who served in the war for a period exceeding ninety days, may, in settling upon the public lands, under the homestead laws, count the period of his service as a part of the five years' residence required to obtain a parent to one hundred and sixty acres. The actual residence on the land must be at least one year. Six months are allowed after the location of the land before the residence upon it must commence. Persons discharged for wounds or disability may have their whole period of enlistment counted. In case of the death of a person who would be entitled to the privileges of the act, his widow, if unmarried, or minor children, if the widow be married, or dead, are entitled to its benefits. Any person to whom the bill gives the right to acquire land may have the same entered, and the required settlement and residence made by an agent. This is the most important feature of the bill, for a comparatively small number of soldiers will themselves become homestead settlers. The right to transfer their privileges to an agent will doubtless be of considerable value to them.

THE STYGIAN THRONG.

The facial expression of the Washington rebels while listening to the oratory of Carl Schurz calls to mind the lines of Milton after Beelzebub made his great speech:

"At that sudden blaze, the stygian throng.
Bent their aspect"—

The great poet's description of Satanic strategy and warfare often reminds us of modern democracy, and we are almost forced to the conclusion that he had a prophetic vision of the Democratic party of 1872. The sudden blaze of eloquence of the restless brain of Carl Schurz, has, for several weeks past, so illuminated the Democratic sky, that the stygian theory comprising the Rebels Ku-Klux, and all their sympathisers are looking up in awed astonishment and suprise at the valorous champion who has espoused their cause, and who appears so ready and willing to lead their "forlorn hope" to victory or death. Day after day these Washington rebels were oblivions of all else around them, suspended their usual avocation, and in solid mass crowded the galleries of the Senate chamber to be warmed into life and being by the brilliant rays of the grand luminary from the great "Puke State."

But alas, there is an end to all earthly perfection and bliss; for the great debate on the "arms scandal" is closed. President Grant is still alive and well, whilst the great luminary that blazed so furiously a few days ago is obscured and lost in the fogs of his own creation.

GRAND LARCENIES.

In Gen. Jackson's day one man, Samuel Swartout, stole $1,000,000 in the New York Custom House. Then the government only raised a few millions of dollars per annum, no vast war debt having to be paid. Under Van Buren's administration, there were ninety-eight receivers of public moneys, and ninety-six out of the ninety-eight were defaulters. Under Buchanan, that magnificent thief, John B Floyd, of whom Tweed, alone, can be his parallel, stole all the money that was in the treasury, and every thing else he could lay his hands on. And yet, were these thieving Democrats ever sent to the Penitentiary?

Under Grant's administration there has been collected nearly $400,000,000 per annum, and there has been paid out nearly $1,000,000,000. With all the vast machinery of assessors, collectors, etc., etc., the loss on this immense sum has been less than the one tenth of one per cent, in these three years. And in nearly every case the defaulting officer has been brought to punishment. Notwithstanding the howl about corruption and the necessity for reform, there is no nation in the world that can present such a record of official integrity.

MASSACHUSETTS is about to establish as a branch of its educational system schools for the instruction of the working-classes in the mechanical trades. The idea is an advanced one and comes from Europe. It has been mooted for some time in this country, but the State which leads in isms and intelligence is the first to adopt it. All the arguments which apply in favor of intellectual training are forcible in advocacy of this system. One of the defects of our society is that we educate the head too much and the hand too little; that our schools are hot-beds for producing intellectual giants and laboring pigmies. Of all the States in this country Pennsylvania is the most in need of technical schools. Manufacturing is the occupation of its people, and to improve our products, and put them upon a par with those of Europe, we must improve our workingmen by special education. In strength, durability, and usefulness our fabrics, young as is the nation and its industries, compare favorably with those of other countries, but in beauty of design, finish in execution, and features of art, the contrast is against us.—Forneys Press.

FOLLOWING A MOURFUL TRAIN.—The Wilmington Commercial says: "Seward deserted the Republican party—and what was it that suffered most? Chase abandoned the Republican party—and which was most hurt? Andy Johnson sought to betray the Republican party—and who got sold, in the end? A swarm of small suckers, such as Cowan, Doolittle, Dixon, Van Winkle, Norton, et id omne genus, bartered off their little selves in the vain expectation that the Republican party went with the transaction. And now is Charles Sumner to be added to such a list?"

Isn't it too late to ask that question? Isn't Charles Sumner already "treading in the footsteps of his illustrious predecessors," the almost forgotten disorganizers of the past?

THE Albany Journal finds in the following quotation from 1st Samuel a clear illustration of the nomination of Judge Davis by the "Labor Reform" party:

"David therefore departed thence and escaped to the cave of Adullum; and when his brethern and all his father's house heard it, they went down thither to him.

"And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him; and he became captain over them; and there were with him about four hundred men."

NEW HAMPSHIRE.—"A splendid Grant victory."—N. Y. Herald.

ARE WE THE FOOLS TO FOLLOW?

David Davis, of Illinois, and Joel Parker, of New Jersey, both excessive representatives of the idea of leisure, were nominated at Columbus, Ohio, on the 22d of February, as candidates of the hard workingmen of America, for President and Vice President of the United States. It is a little curious to notice how the originators and operators of the labor and industrial organizations of the country are gradually falling into general opposition to the Republican party, their best and best-tried friend. There seems to be no doubt that the whole of this Columbus Convention was manipulated in the interests of the Democracy. A private correspondent, an intelligent colored gentleman, a spectator of the proceedings, describes the manner in which the whole affair was managed. Never before has labor received the slightest attention from the Democratic politicians; but now, on the threshold of a nomination for the Presidency, these shrewd and careful foxes suddenly discover that they need some simple-minded persons to help them pull the Presidential chestnuts out of the fire; and so, according to our correspondent, they repaired to Columbus, Ohio, on the anniversary of the birthday of Washington, and took charge of the Workingmen's Union. His account clearly indicates that David Davis, of Illinois, and Joel Parker, of New Jersey, had been long prearranged as the opposition candidates for President and Vice President, and that the Liberal Republicans, to meet in Cincinnati in May, and the Democratic Convention, on a day yet to be named, will cordially accept these nominations as their own. The movement is a complete postponement of the aspirations for the Presidential office of Governor Gratz Brown, of Missouri, and Hon Lyman Trumbull, of Illinois, both of whom have been struggling for the Presidential prize. Justice David Davis is a tired and retired Republican, was Mr Lincoln's law partner, and is one of the executors under his will. Joel Parker is a sort of antediluvian Democrat, who is trying to do his best to help himself into the Vice Presidency by a tolerable administration as Governor of New Jersey, to which position he was elected last November. But there are two questions in this connection: What can either of these men do, or the real organization they represent, to help the workingmen or the laborers of America? and how much better can they administer the Government than Grant and Colfax? There is nothing in the history of either to prove that he ever had the slightest sympathy with the toiling millions. So far as Judge Davis is concerned, beyond his vicarious relations to Mr. Lincoln, we know nothing of him politically except his conservative tendencies on the bench of the Supreme Court and his anxiety to screen Andrew Johnson from impeachment. There is something so bald and bad in this attempt to begin reform by putting forward decayed and decaying politicians as candidates of laborers and mechanics, that we turn from it to ask, Is there any Democrat that cares for this sort of mummery? Does any man who hates the Republican party never so bitterly suppose that he can better himself by supporting and helping to elect this mongrel ticket? In past days the Whig party was a sort of follower of the Democratic party—living upon its quarrels, and, too often, wearing its old clothes. Now it seems as though the Democratic party were living upon the quarrels and wearing the old clothes of the Republicans. What is Mr. Justice Davis but a dissatisfied Republican, anxious to represent other dissatisfied Republicans, and what is Mr. Joel Parker but a hungry Democrat, anxious to pave the way for other hungry Democrats, and to eat himself into the national corncrib by the aid of Republican votes? We have no doubt that, transparent as the trick is, the gentlemen who sent their emissaries to Columbus to induce the Laboring Men's Union in National Council to nominate this hybrid ticket are quite confident that the Liberal Republicans, who are to meet at Cincinnati in May, and the National Democrats, who are to meet somewhere else at a time hereafter to be fixed, will obediently accept their ticket. But there are so many contingencies between the arrangement and the completion of the programme that we shall not be astonished if the whole thing intermediately falls to the ground.

And what is the lesson taught by this exhibition to the great Republican masses of America? Will they not be admonished by the difficulties existing between these triple factions not to fall into factions themselves? Here we have dissatisfied Republicans, clamorous Democrats and revolutionary Reformers, all inspired by one idea—place and power. Nobody supposes that this conglomerate could hold together for a year in the possession of the Government.—Their whole instinct is a growing appetite for the possession of Federal patronage. Will the Republican party imitate this miserable example by falling to pieces itself? We can read our own future in the present fate of our adversaries. They have been literally dissolved—disintegrated by our unity—and they are now waiting and striving to reunite by our disintegration. Shall we gratify their overweening ambition by proving our wanton imbecility? Are we fools enough to follow them?—Philadelphia Press.

THE public are hereby assured, through the columns of the REPUBLICAN, that Parsons' Purgative Pills contain no injurious principle, but that they may be administered to children and the most weak and shattered constitutions in small doses, with great certainty of success.

Dr. A Johnson, one of the most successful practitioners of his time, invented what is now called Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The great success of this article in the cure of Bronchitis and all diseases of throat and lungs, will make the name of Johnson not less favorably, if less widely known, than that of Louis Napoleon.

OUR modern course of living begets a condition of the body that requires occasional relief. The system becomes enfeebled, deranged, clogged, and labors in its task. The mind sympathizes with it and both sink, or are depressed together. To restore the vital energies, purge the system—cleanse the blood—take Ayer's Pills. [Glasgow (Ky.) Free Press.

PETER'S RIDE TO THE WEDDING.

Peter would ride to the wedding—he would;
So he saddled his ass—and his wife,
She was to ride behind, if she could;
"For," says Peter, "the woman, she should Follow, not lead through life."

"He's mighty convenient, the ass, my dear,
And proper and safe; and now,
You hold by the tail, while I hold by the ear,
And we'll ride to thekirk in time, never fear,
If thewind and the weather allow."

The wind and the weather were not to be blam'd,
But the ass has adopted the whim,
That two at a time was a load never framed
For the back of one ass, and he seemed quite ashamed
That two should stick fast upon him.

"Come, Dobbin," say- Peter, "I'm thinking we'll a trot."
"I'm thinking we won't," ays the ass,
In language of conduct, and stu k to the spot
As if he had vowed he would sooner be shot
Than lift up a toe from the grass.

Says Peter, says he, "I'll whip him a little."
"Try it my dear," says she.
But he might just as well have whipped a brass kettle.
The ass was made of such obstinate mettle
That never a step moved he.

"I'll prick him, my dear, with a needle," said she,
"I'm thinking he'll alter his mind."
The ass felt the needle, and up went his heels:
"I'm thinking," says Peter, "he's beginning to reel
Some notion of moving—behind.

"Now lend me the needle and I'll prick his ear,
And set to'her end, too, a going."
T e ass felt the needle and upward he reared:
But kicking and rearing was all, it appeared
He'd any intention of doing.

Says Peter, says he, "We get on rather slow;
While one end is up, t'other sticks to the ground.
But I'm thinking a method to move him I know;
Let's prick head and tail together, and so
Give the creature a start all round."

So said, so done; all hands were at work,
And the ass he did alter his mind;
For he started away with a sudden a jerk,
That in less than a trice he arrived at the kirk,
Bet he left all his lading behind.

Profits of Honey.

At a recent convention of bee culturists, held in Cleveland, Ohio, some statistics of the profits of honey raising were elicited which were rather amazing. For instance, Mr. Quimby, a noted bee raiser at St Joneville, N. Y., had 12 000 pounds of surplus honey from 300 swarms. Of box honey the largest yield was over 200 pounds. This honey was of the very best quality, being made from white clover blossoms. Mr. Hosmer, of Janesville, Minn., said that he took six tons of honey from 72 swarms, together with their increase, during the season. This honey was mostly made in the time of basswood blossoms, or in about twelve days of July. This is a good yield, 12 000 pounds from 75 swarms is an average of 160 pounds per hive. Two women were mentioned as taking part in the proceedings, and were quite experienced in the business; one of them in this her first season had sold 1200 pounds of honey. The keeping of bees seems to be a business in which women can engage with fair prospects of success. We know personally one young lady in Illinois who manages 100 hives, which yield $10 income each per year, or $1.000 for the whole. Other young ladies might do the same, by beginning with one swarm and then taking care of the increase or future progeny. Mr. Quimby states that in New York City alone a quarter million pounds of Northern honey are sold yearly (we believe this estimate very low;) and the bee pasturage is so large he thought 40 000 000 pounds could be produced in New York State alone. A row of bee hives near a farmer's barn or house will bring him as much income in the course of a year as his flocks of poultry: and it is attention to such little things as these that bring in the extra dollars and cents, to make home happy with additional comforts.

WESTERN stock raisers assert that the American buffalo, by change of diet and training from an early age, can be domesticated, and make to do such useful work as that for which oxen are used.

Mixed Husbandry.

We often hear the remark that the "Farmer is the most independent, because he can grow all he wants to eat." This sounds like independence, to be sure, but it is not always carried out to this extent. The farmer, like every other business man, works for money, and will make, or deal most extensively in those articles that will afford the most profit. His business will be varied according to the soil, climate and market facilities of his location.

The farmer, everywhere, must have live stock—he cannot farm without it. Good policy will dictate that he should grow all the food he wants for his stock and those who do the work on the farm, including his family. Out side of this, he should grow extensively such crops as he can grow and sell to the largest profit, but not confine himself to one, because, if that one fails, his business is crippled financially, and he is in want of funds to carry on next year's operation.

In some sections of the country, corn is the leading crop, but this fails in some seasons, so it is better to have a crop of wheat, or some other grain to fall back upon. In some places, hay is the crop depended on for money, this too, fails s metimes, and a reserve of corn or wheat would be valuable. In other sections, cotton or tobacco are the leading crops. They too, fail sometimes, or prices decline, so that a good crop of corn would help out very much. In dairying districts, milk, butter or cheese are most profitable, but these branches are necessarily connected with grain growing, and are always sure to produce a fair supply of money, when controlled by good management. Stock-raisers, except in some southern localities, must necessarily grow grass or grain.

In stock raising, just at the present time, pork is very low and everybody is killing off nearly all their hogs, this is entirely a mistaken policy, as it is sure to cause a scarcity, and force prices to go up, then thay have no hogs to sell. The better way is to keep on the even tenor of your way, raising each year such crops and stock as will pay you a fair profit, not regarding the high price of this, or the low price of that article. We have almost invariably found that extreme high prices of any particular article a loss on the producer.

To sum up: A mixed system of Agriculture will be found to be the safest everywhere Special leading crops may pay best sometimes, but it is not always safe to depend on them. Good, clean culture—every part of the work at the right time, and done well, is the best safeguard against failures. —American Stock Journal.

How long can a mule live? A correspondent says that Mr. Daniel Munro of Elbridge has a mule reputed to be sixty years old, the evidence of which is considered good: "Was interviewed. Old peggy last fall; with her mate, a fri-ky thing of only twenty or so, she was drawing a steamer weighing 3½ tons. She was getting a little grey about the head. Didn't like going with the steamer at first—brayed against it; but they turned on the team whistle, and she was silenced. She was claimed to be as strong, hearty and obstinate as ever; and could stand as much sawing on the bit, and pounding over the head, when she didn't wish to back a load. She was also active, as I was assured, with the kind permissien to try for myself by tickling her in the flank and see her 'strike out from the hip' right or left. In fact, her prolonged experience had apparently tended to lessen rather than increase her respect for mankind."

The Pacific Rural Press contains the following as the result of its own observations and experiences:—"That the fruit bud from the base of the past year's cane throws out larger and better developed bunches of grapes than either the first or second. The grapes from these buds seem also better flavored, and generally superior to those on the first and second. In accordance with this hint we have adopted the plan of cutting the cane at such lengths as to leave the third bud, generally, and sometimes the fourth, when a good strong one, and then rubbing off the first and second buds, and leaving the third and fourth for fruit. The number of fruit buds left on the vine must depend on the age and strength of the vine. If the vines are strong and vigorous, at three years, from two to three bunches of grapes may be allowed to mature on each, without injury."

COOKING VEGETABLES.—If one portion of vegetables be boiled in pure, distilled, rain water, and another in water in which a little salt has been added, a decided difference is perceptible in the tenderness of the two. Vegetables boiled in pure water are vastly inferior in flavor.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind

Is different from all others. It is composed of be pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, for, as medicinally termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons or ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others; no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic.

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases where some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome, forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article! A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefitted by it, will most certainly be cheated.

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa.

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so week, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. DR. HOOFLAND'S PODOPHYLLIN,
Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.
TWO PILLS A DOSE.
The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it specially from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can remain a hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the symptom seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seemes to breed infection throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leycorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints; Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LANGUID and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Medical.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so wide and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., are indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of agu medicine. Our price is graduated by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remidies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residents in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

and fought. Stand by the Republican party; stand by, I pray you, that great political organization until it accomplishes the task assigned it by the needs of the country and the providence of God. Make safe the beneficent deed of the past, and secure in their full fruition the fruits of the seeds planted in faith and nurtured by devotion and valor.

Listen not to the seductive voices which proclaim that the work of the Republican party of the United States has been achieved. The reforms of the past are not only to be assured, but other reforms of magnitude are pressing for accomplishment. At any rate, it has a great, if not its greatest, work yet to do. That work is to humanize, convict and convert the Democratic party of the United States. [Applause.] Men cannot be wrong all the time for forty years and be convicted of their folly in an hour. Until that political organization has been convicted of its wickedness, repents of its sins, and brings forth the fruits of repentance, the Government of the United States cannot be safe in its control. Its history and the elements of which it is composed alike forbid that it should be again intrusted with power. The Democratic party has at least one million voters in its ranks; men who fought against their country with ballot and bullet; men who are only sorry that they fought against their native land because they failed. You must breathe into their souls the spirit of patriotism and the spirit of liberty, justice, humanity, and Christian civilization.

There are a million and a half of voters we call "copperheads." I will not call them "copperheads;" I will call them what they love so much to be called, "conservatives." [Laughter.] These men always sneered at the cause of liberty, always took the side of the old slave masters, stood up for privilege and caste, and rejoiced, or if they did not rejoice did not manifest sorrow, when our armies were defeated. To convert these men is a great work. I think it will take us a dozen years, at least. If in that time we can change the hearts of the old rebels of the South and these conservatives here in the North, and get them to accept the vital and animating principles of Christian civilization, and go for the elevation and protection of the poor and the lowly, the black men of the south and the poor white men of the whole country—if we can do this grand work in twelve years, the world will say we have achieved quite as much as we did when we put down the rebellion, made four and a half million men free and gave them citizenship and equal rights. The war Democrats, the men who by voice, or vote, or bullet, stood by their country in time of war, will be utterly helpless if the Democratic party comes into power. The old rebel leaders will be the head, the conservatives will be the body, and these loyal war Democrats will be only the tail of the Administration. [Applause.]

In the past sixteen years we Republicans have taken from the Democratic party more than a million of its best men—taken the cream right off of it. [Applause.] We want the war Democrats, some of these conservative Democrats, and some of the rebel Democrats, too. They are our mistaken, erring countrymen. We want their influences and all they have to give on the side of Republican ideas, principles, and policies; on the other side of education and development, and the inspiring influences that elevate and lift up the masses of our countrymen. Never till the masses of the Democratic party accept the vital ideas of patriotism, of equality for all and protection to all, will it be safe to trust the mighty interests of the nation to that political organization. Its "new departure" is a delusion; its "passive policy" is a snare. Neither the one nor the other will be adopted, because it is right. If either be adopted at all, it will be in the hope to win power, to defeat the full fruition of the great work achieved by the Republican party. The acceptance of the "new departure" and the "passive policy" may be an advance for the torpid conservatism of the Democracy, but the adoption of either by the nation will be a lowering down, a reaction, an ignominious retreat.

Republicans of New Hampshire, of New England, of the Republic, cling then with deathless tenacity to your grand organization, that now embodies three and a half million men in its ranks. Stand by the Republican colors. They symbolize patriotism and liberty, justice and humanity, development and progress. Trust yourselves; correct your own errors; move right onward, abreast of the advancing currents of a progresive republicanism. Look to your history; do not blur nor blot that immortal record. Let it be an inspiration, a perennial source of faith and hope, in sunshine and in storm. In the years to come, when the passions and prejudices of these days of conflict shall have sunk to rest with us in the bright hereafter, the record of the last twelve years will be a brilliant chapter in the history of human progress. The world will note it, and mankind will read it with beaming eye and throbbing heart.

The Republicans of the United States should never forget that they lived that history and made that history. They should ever remember that America, as they have made it, is no longer dominated by a slave power, nor guided by the counsels of slave masters. It is moving on a higher plane and working out a nobler destiny for humanity than any of the formost nations of the globe. The continued triumph of the Republican party assures the triumph of equality before the law, and protection under the law. Let, then, the Republicans of New Hampshire, now as in the past, lead the Republican columns to a glorious victory. [Loud applause.]

THE WEEK,

A RESUME OF CURRENT OPINION, HOME AND FOREIGN.

THE WEEK fills a place unoccupied hitherto in American journalism, though its importance has long ago been demonstrated in England. From week to week it presents the cream of home and foreign journalism, and gathers from the leading papers of America and England, and of all sections and parties, the most important utterances on current questions of Politics, Society, Religion, Literature, Science, Art, Music, the Drama, and all other topics likely to interest the reader. In addition to the longer articles, which themselves cover every variety of subject, there is Literary Gossip, Science and Art Gossip, Musical and Dramatic Gossip, and General Notes and News, giving the freshest and most copious intelligence in all these departments. In no other paper can be found so large and so various an amount of instructive and entertaining reading matter.

The first No. of THE WEEK was published on December 2d of last year, and in the short space of two months has achieved a most decided and flattering success. No paper has ever received more cordial words from the press and the critics, and it is the general testimony that The Week has met an important and well-defined want in the journalism of America.

Read what the Press says.

THE WEEK is the title of a new paper which bids fair to fill a void in New York journalism. It is filled with a selection of the more noticeable articles of the various daily papers—not editorial merely, but extracts also from news and correspondence. Thus at a glance the busy man who has had no leisure to see more than one, if any, daily paper during the week, gets the cream of the entire newspaper literature—not the metropolitan only but of other cities, and to some extent of foreign capitals also.—Brooklyn Eagle.

THE WEEK is a new paper which ought to take a permanent place in American journalism. Possessed of it the reader will find that he can dispense with most other journals and still keep abreast of the most enlightened current opinion on Politics, Society, Religion, Art, Music, and the Drama, and the like.—Springfield Republican.

THE WEEK is the title of a new paper whose idea we like. The selections are well made, and we hope THE WEEK will find abundant patronage.—Independent.

Its success ought not to be a matter of doubt.—Chicago Journal.

THE WEEK is a 16 page paper of large size, with three broad columns to the page, and is neatly and tastefully printed.

TERMS—$3 a year; single copy 8 cents. Trial subscription, 4 consecutive numbers for 25 cents.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, March 27th, 1872.

REMOVED.—After April 1st, 1872, the Boot Shoe and Leath r Store of Graham & Son, will be found on Bishop St., next door to Keller's Store, where they will keep the largest stock of Boots Shoes and Leather in town. 13-4t.

BY reference to the Jobbing and Commission House of Burnside & Thomas, this popular firm are offering a very large and superior stock of Fish, Groceries, Tobacco, Leather, Molasses, Harness and a thousand other articles of merchandise at City prices. These goods are all new. If you wish to save from thirty to fifty per cent, you should patronize this old, experienced and reliable firm. They sell for cash only and keep no books. We cheerfully commend them to all our readers, and feel satisfied of the fact that they sell goods at city prices. You will be convinced by purchasing their goods. You need not seek other markets to make your purchases.

THE cheapest toilet soap in the country is at Green's.

WHY.—Who can tell why butter and eggs are so scarce?

ZELLER & JARRETT have removed their Drug Store to No. 6, Brockerhoff Row.

ROUGH.—March went out like a lion, and April came in, keeping up the same old roar.

WHO Murdered Jno. Hanna? is the question asked by every-body? How he came to his death is yet a mystery.

MILLINERY AND DRESSMAKING.—Miss Annie Finn will open a new stock of Millinery goods at Pine Grove Mills, on the 17th inst. She will be thankful for the patronage of the citizens.

THANKS.—Hon. Simon Cameron and Hon. Jno. Scott will please accept our thanks for valuable documents. Pennsylvania is ably and faithfully represented in the United States Senate.

IF you want to do a good business, advertise your business in the Republican. It is our business to say this, you may think, but we have studied the business and we know that no man in business, can do business unless he advertises his business. That's business.

INVENTION.—Jesse Gillaspie Esq. of our Borough has invented a new and novel self car coupling. It is the best we have ever seen and will do away with the necessity of broken legs and arms on the part of employees and make traveling much safer. We understand he has made application for a patent.

A RICH TREAT.—The grand Concert & Tableaux of the Milesburg Music Class, Mrs. Lily H. Mitchell, Preceptress, will be given in Reynolds Hall this place on Thursday evening the 4th inst. The Programme is a most excellent one. We are sorry we have not space to give it in full; but we can assure our readers, that they will not regret having spent an hour or two to hear this rich, musical and scientific performance. Let every person go.

LOCAL ADVERTISING.—A desirable article says, the Gazette & Bulletin, may bring a bidder for miles, and an extra bidder may make a difference of many dollars in receipts. This is where the profits from advertising comes in, and those who do not take the advantage of this, are likely to be fearful losers. When you make public sales you must advertise so that the entire community will see and become interested in everything you offer for sale. This is the way to be successful and get good, profitable bidders.

SOUND ADVICE.—The advice of Stephen Girard, one of the most influential men of his day, applied not only to the times and surroundings in which he lived, but holds good in any community in the present age;

"I have always considered advertising, liberally and long, to be the great medium of success in business, and prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule, too, to advertise in the dullest times, as well as the busiest—long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out; as by keeping my business continually before the public, it has secured me many sales that I would otherwise have lost."

GREAT CAVE.—We learn from our correspondent "Spectator," that a cave equal if not superior to the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, was discovered a few days since in the Borough of Milesburg, this County, on the property of Mr. John Swyres, and known as the Lime Kiln lots. Mr. Swyres had been engaged in burning lime for a number of years; but for a time, has suspended operations. A few week's ago he commenced work again with the intention of furnishing lime to farmers and others. In opening the quarry he discovered this cave which is, at the mouth, sufficiently large to admit a large sized man, when once in, it presents to the explorer sights the most magnificent and delightfully beautiful. Several departments are presented to the eye, filled with the rarest specimens. The rooms are numerous and large, but as yet particulars cannot be given. Directly under this cave is another, supposed to be much larger and richer in its queer and Indian-like specimens. A few more days work, will enable the explorers to tell the extent of both caves. We believe no Indian or other skeleton's have as yet been found; but many specimens of different variety and formation have been taken out by several persons, a sample of which can be seen at this office or at the Curtin House, in Central City. As this cave is so near the place where the "Bald Eagle nest" has been located by the historian, we would not be surprised to hear that this cave, or rather, these caves, contain hundreds of Indian skeletons, the bones of those noble red-men who were so highly honored as to have "Bald Eagle" for their Chief.

ANOTHER WAY OF SHOWING GRATITUDE.—An exchange paper published in the eastern section of the State, says that a gentleman in that vicinity who had contributed a bundle of his cast off clothing for the relief of the victims of the fires in the Northwest, received recently from one of the sufferers the following note. Bellefonte contributed considerably in money and clothing for the relief of the sufferers, but we have not heard that any of our citizens have received letters of so cheering a nature as the following: "The committy man giv me amongst other things wat he called a pare ov pants, and 'twould make me pant sum to were 'em. I found your name an where you live on one of the pokits, my wife lafted so when I shode em to her that I thot she wood have conipshum fit. She wants to no if there lives and brethes a man who has legs no bigger than that. She sed if there was be orter to be taken up for vagrinsy fur havin no visible means of support. I couldent get em on my oldest boy, so I used um for gun cases. If you hav another pare to spare my wife wood like to get 'em to hang up by the sideov the fire plase to keep the tongs in."

USE Green's Liver Pills, they are the best in the market, wholesale at Green's Drug Store.

CRUELTY.—Our readers may not be aware what constitutes cruelty to animals. Under the rules and regulations of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the following constitutes a violation of the law:—Overloading, overworking, or overdriving horses or mules; driving lame, sore diseased or badly fed stock, beating, inconsiderate stopping, cruel check rains, &c.; cutting mouths and tongues; beating; bagging; abusing in drove yards; starving in cars and elsewhere; cruel modes for killing, muzzling; piling in wagons; skinning alive; mutilating, beating, kicking and abusing dogs; fighting in pits, such as cock fights; burning with coal oil; shooting insectiverous birds: shooting pigeons; plucking live fowls; cooping and tying; cruelty to turtles; burning rats; vivisection; unsafe condition of streets.

A FULL line of Trusses, Supporters and Shoulder Braces at Green's.

RETURNED.—Our old friend D. I. Pruner, Esq., has just returned from Philadelphia, where he has been for six weeks past, superintending the manufacture of the "Horse Shoe Making Machine" invented by him. Messrs. Chambers Brothers & Co., of Philadelphia, are manufacturing this machine, and will have it completed and ready for delivery on or about the 1st of May. Mr. Pruner informs us that the Machine will, as he and Mr. Chambers at first anticipated, make 1200 horse shoes per hour. Will our capitalists secure this great enterprise to Bellefonte? Shall it also go to Milton? We must have more manufactories, or a reduction in rents. Which shall we have?

BOOTS & SHOES.—Jno. Powers authorizes us to say that besides having purchased the latest style of lasts, he has received the largest stock of Boots, Shoes, Button Gaiters, Ladies and Missis Gaiters & Shoes for spring and summer that has ever been brought to this town. He also, assures us, that he continues to sell 40 per cent cheaper than any other establishment in town or country.

CATO.—Your communication reached us too late for insertion in this number.

For the REPUBLICAN.

HOWARD, PA., March 28, 1872.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN; Dear Sir:—As soon as the article by "Pilgrim" was published on the 6th ult., in your columns, I was charged with being its author. I therefore wish to give a brief account of my connection with the Convention, and to deny all knowledge of the article referred to, previous to its publication.

I came here a short time before the Convention was held, and without my knowledge was proposed to the Committee as a proper person to recieve a complimentary ticket. The committee refused it. I gave myself no trouble about it, because until I was told that it was refused, I never thought that I might be entitled to one, and consequently met with no disappointment. Time passed on. The convention was postponed to the 6th of February last, on account of small-pox in this place. In the mean while, the Chairman, Mr. Woodward, met with the fearful accident which deprived him of his left hand. As it was known that he could not serve, I was selected to fill his place. At the Convention we had both a Piano and an Organ, Prof. Hagar and Mrs. Bradford, both insisted that I should play the Organ. I reluctantly consented, and presided as best I could over the Convention, and at the Organ, either one of which was enough for one person. Just here let me say that I think there is not one of the committee but will cheerfully acknowledge that I labored most earnestly to make the Convention a success. It has been supposed, because the complimentary ticket was refused me, that I am "Pilgrim." Now, I wish to say that I neither wrote nor dictated the article by "Pilgrim," nor did I have any knowledge or thought of it or anything like it, until I saw it in the paper. Again, if I had written at all concerning the Convention, I would have spoken in the highest terms of the music rendered by Mr. Lauth and Mrs. Comford. I was especially pleased with the Opera, Martha. I have heard the opera performed on the Flute and Piano, and on the Violin and Piano frequently; but I never heard it rendered more elegantly than by these two on the evening of the concert

Further the article by "School Boy" defeats its own objects, and needs no answer from me. The author in writing, evidently missed his ink-stand and "dipped his pen in gall" instead.

Yours very truly,
C. H. RISHEL.

BASE BALL.—The students of Agricultural College met in the chapel, Saturday morning, March 30th, and organized a Base Ball Club, adopting Semper paratus as the name and Malo mori quam fœdari as their moto.

After dinner a match game was played between a picked nine from the Senior, Junior and sophomore classes, and a nine selected from the Freshman class and the preparatory department.

None of the female students played, but they were near during greater part of the game to encourage there class mates with their benign smile and "go it John."

PLANING MILL.—Our enterprising friend Austin Brew has again taken charge of the plaining department of the Bellefonte Planing Mill. Mr. Wm. V. Hughes retains and will continue to run the Sash department. With two such men at the helm, the planing mill must continue to be, as it has been in the past, one of the great enterprises of our town, giving employment to quite a number of good and true men. Farmers, or others desiring to build can be accomodated here much better than at either Lock Haven or Williamsport. Prices reasonable.

PROFITS OF A FARM.—A writer in the Susquehanna Republican says that James C. Morgan, of Brooklyn township, has, for the years of 1870 and 1871, sold from his place 110 tons of hay, keeping in 1870, 6 cows, 3 yearlings, 3 calves, 4 horses, and 60 sheep, and in 1871, 4 cows, 3 yearlings, 3 calves, 4 horses, and 60 sheep; and in 1871 made 800 pounds of butter, sold from his 60 sheep in wool and lambs the amount of $400,50, and beside all this has raised good crops of corn, oats, potatoes, apples, etc.

UP TO TIME.—The Messrs Harper Bro's are always up to time in receiving seasonable goods. They are determined to succeed, and surely they Jeserve success. They furnish the people with the best of goods at reasonable rates and are always attentive, amiable and accomodating.

COCOA Camphorine cures all roughness of the skin, sold at Green's.

For the REPUBLICAN.

LOVEVILLE, March 19, 1872.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—I do not know whether I shall be trespassing on good nature or not in sending you this, but if you consider it worthy a place in your columns, you can publish it, or you can throw it in the waste basket, just as you see fit. I think that will do for an introduction, so will now proceed to business.

I have just closed a very successful term of school at the above place, and herewith furnish you with a report of the same:

Whole number of pupils enrolled, 36; percentage of attendance, 88; Average age of pupils, males 11, Females 12; number in each branch of study. Primer 5; 1st reader 4; 3d reader 11; 4th reader 16; spelling 31; writing 27; mental arithmetic 30; written arith. 25; geography 24; grammar and composition 8; U. S. History 8; map drawing daily. Question box weekly; 36 visitors during last month.

Public examination on the last day, quite a number of visitors were present and several addresses were made by them.

The only prize given, (a complete set of Hagars Arithmetics,) was awarded to Dora A. Cole, for regularity of attendance. Though only 9 years old she has made her way to the school-room, (a distance of half a mile) every day during the entire winter. Think of that you city, girls, poor, puny, sickly things, who care not poke your noses out of the houses if old Boreas happens to be on a bit of a rampage, or a few specks of snow are in the air. Give me our country girls yet, both large and small in preference to those travelling advertisements of some dry goods store, calling themselves by the agreeable title of city Ladies.

I have visited a number of schools in large towns, which are open 9 and 10 months in the year, and I can say, and say it honestly, that we have pupils here in the country, attending but 4 months, who are as far if not farther advanced in all the branches than their city cousins. And why is it that we are able to hold ourselves on a level with them? They have decidedly the advantage in longer terms, higher salaries, graded schools, better buildings, and more necessary apparatus and books. Why is it then that our country boys rise to positions of honor and trust, while those of the city are cast in the shade? Why is it that the majority of our best men at the present time, were once nothing but poor country boys! I think I can answer these questions satisfactorily. It is because our boys and girls take plenty of exercise in the open air, eat wholesome diet, and follow the maxim of "early to bed, and early to rise, &c;" thus building up a healthy system, and the mind being in close sympathy with the body, will also be in a healthy state; as a natural consequence they can endure more hard mental labor than those who are pampered and fed on sweetmeets and pastry, restrained from taking proper exercise, bound down by fashion's chains to comply to certain rules and regulations, regardless of health and personal comfort, and not daring to overstep those bounds, for fear of calling down upon their innocent heads the vengeance of mothers and older sisters. Is it any wonder then, that when a man of sense wishes a wife he goes to the country to find her? Is it any wonder that when a merchant wants a trustworthy clerk, he procures one from the country? Or when a teacher is wanted for a high school, they take one from the country, (as they did in Bellefonte).

May the time soon come when fashion with all her frivolities and nonsense will be a thing of the past, and good sound common sense will have full sway over the minds of men and women and cause them to see that the true secret of success, lies in forming regular habits, eating good wholesome food, taking plenty of exercise, drinking nothing but pure cold water, and thus keeping the mind always in good working order, ready at a moments warning to perform whatever duty may be required of it.

Nuff ced.
G. L. MORLOCK.

MESSRS. ZELLER & JARRETT desires to inform the citizens of Bellefonte and vicinity, that they have removed their Drug Store to Brockerhoff Row, Room No. 6. They tender their thanks for the kind patronage heretofore extended to them, and respectfully request a continuance of the same. They keep none but fresh and pure Drugs and Medicines, together with a large and choice stock of Perfumery, Fancy Articles, &c. They will spare no pains to accommodate all who may favor them with a call. Persons desiring medicine at night, will please call at the room formerly occupied by them on Bishop Street, and ring the night bell. 14-tf

REMOVED.—The Post Office has been removed to the room, in Reynolds Arcade, formerly occupied by the law firm of Blair & Stitzer. We have an interprising and faithful Post Master, one of the best we have ever had.

CROWDED OUT.—Three school reports and some other local matters have been laid over until next week.

VICTORY.—The election in Connecticut on Monday has resulted in a Republican victory.

IOWA, NEBRASKA, KANSAS, CALIFORNIA.—Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed; if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas City and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the Great West, and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa. 14-3m.

To the Citizens of Centre County and Elsewhere.

Your attention is particularly requested to the following certificate referring to those old established remedies, "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS', and "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC," from that well known citizen,

IRA C. MITCHELL, ESQ.:

"BELLEFONTE, PA., Oct. 27, 187

Sir:—I have just had the pleasure of meeting your Agent, the first representative of "Hoofland's German Bitters" and "Hoofland's German Tonic," it has ever been my good fortune to meet. For many year I have been purchasing and using them to the great comfort of myself, family and friends, having commenced their use on the recommendations of the Supreme Court Judges of this State. It affords me pleasure to have the opportunity to voluntarily recommend the same to all of my friends and acquaintances who may be suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Billiousness or affections of the Liver, of any kind.

Very Respectfully,
IRA C. MITHELL."

These medicines are and have been well known to the community for the last twenty-five years, as genuine, reliable and deserving remedies for the diseases mentioned in the above certificate. Those afflicted should not fail to use them. Sold by all Druggists. C. M. EVANS, Proprietor, 631 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 3-50-1y

NEWSPAPER BORROWING.—The Schenectady (N. Y.) Star gives the following fatal results which attended the borrowing of a newspaper: Reader, if you have borrowed the paper you are reading, don't do it again. Subscribe. It is not safe to borrow papers. We once knew a poor but honest man, who borrowed a paper, innocently and inadvertently, from a wholesome neighbor. Fatal act! That terrible contagion, the small pox, was conveyed insidiously in the fibres of the sheet. Of that extensive and interesting family, a doting father, a fond wife, several intelligent and heroic sons, thirteen lovely daughters, two popular mothers-in-law, and three beautiful aunts—not one remains to tell the tale.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continualy increasing. 14-4t

FURNITURE.—Decidedly one of the best Furniture Stores, in this town is that kept by Mr. John Brachbill, on Spring St. He has everything that any person can want of furniture kind. Parlor sets, made of the best of Walnut, can be purchased from him at from $240 to $140. His sofas, lounges, parlor chairs, cane bottomed chairs, rocking chairs, Book Cases, Bureaus, and bedroom sets, and sold by him at reasonable prices. His furniture is all of his own, and Boston manufacture. He not only recommends, but warrants it. Persons setting up house, keeping, or persons wishing either common or first class furniture, should give him a call before purchasing elsewhere. 13-4t.

ACADEMY NORMAL CLASS.—A class will be formed on Wednesday, April 10th, 1872 at the Bellefonte Academy, for the benefit of Teachers who may desire either to review the branches of study usually taught in our common schools or to pursue the more advanced branches in a higher course of study.

If there be not sufficient room in the Academy Buildings for Boarding, suitable accommodations, and at reasonable prices, will be obtained in the Town. For any further particulars address REV. J. P. HUGHES, 13-4t Bellefonte Pa.

GONE.—It is stated that street sweepers—long dresses—and chignons have gone out of fashion. What will the ladies do now?

DIED.

On the 26th of February, 1872, suddenly, in Marion township, Mrs. Mary [illegible], aged [illegible] years.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A CARD.—We take this method of saying that there is no truth in the reports that have been circulated, "that we intend quitting the coal business as soon as our present supply is sold out." On the contrary, we have on hands now and intend to keep on hand a well selected stock of the best Anthracite coal in the market.

DEAR MEN TELL NO TALES: if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antiote. 16-4t

A VOICE FROM THE PULPIT.

Rev. D. S. Frost, Pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Jonesvile, Vermont, writes: "I had suffered for many years from Chronic Diarrhœa and Colic, becoming so much reduced that I was at times unable to attend to my ministerial duties. I had been treated by several physicians, both Allopathic and Homœpathic, but with no permanent results. While on a visit to Scranton, Penna., I experienced a very severe attack, and by the advice of some of my friends procured a bottle of MEHLER'S HERB BITTERS. The effect then produced gave promise of an ultimate cure, and on my return home I continued its use. I have taken six bottles and am cured. It is truly a valuable remedy."
